£90 for all three seminars

CPD Group 2013
Course Outline

We are pleased to introduce a new series of Friday CPD seminars which are designed to develop and support the ongoing practice of group analytic group work in the NHS and Voluntary sector in the north of England. These seminars are a collaboration between the Institute of Group Analysis, the Northern School of Child & Adolescent Psychotherapy and the Leeds and York NHS Foundation Trust.

Group Analysis is a method of psychoanalytic psychotherapy wherein the group itself is developed as the medium of therapy. Described first in the 1940s by Dr SH Foulkes (psychiatrist and psychoanalyst), it derives from psychoanalysis, sociology and systems thinking, combining the depth of the psychological with the breadth of the social.

These three CPD seminars, which we hope will be the beginning of an ongoing CPD program, will offer the opportunity for group practitioners, to examine the topic of transference and countertransference in groups. We will discuss how these phenomena occur and their application in analytic groups.

The seminar will run from 3:30pm – 6:30pm and will incorporate three elements – a presentation by an invited speaker, small group discussion and median group. It is expected that participants will bring (anonymised) group material and be ready to share their own experience.

Who should attend?

These seminars are open to group analysts, group psychotherapists, and all health service professionals, with an interest in therapeutic, team and/or organisational group work.

Cost

£90 for all three seminars. The seminars are subsidised by the Yorkshire and Humber Strategic Health Authority which allows us to keep the cost low. For this reason, priority is given to applicants in the NHS within the Yorkshire and Humber region. Places are limited to 20.

Seminar Leaders

The seminars will be jointly convened by Isobel Conlon and Ewa Wojciechowska. Between them they have many years of experience of working with groups in the NHS, voluntary and private sectors.

They are both training group analysts and accredited supervisors of the Institute of Group Analysis. The Institute of Group Analysis is the premier training organisation for group analysts and group practitioners in the UK. The seminar leaders will be joined by senior members of the IGA who have a particular interest in the topic being discussed.
