Exploring Personal and Team Effectiveness at Work

Using the Tavistock Model of Understanding the Dynamics of Work and Organisations

Course outline

As part of NSCAP's commitment to professional and personal development we are pleased to offer a series of seminars focussed on the experience of working and leading in organisations. The seminars are an opportunity to develop a deeper understanding of work, organisations, and the individuals and groups within them. The distinctive feature of our approach is the attention given to the 'beneath the surface' emotions and dynamics that impact on individual and organisational functioning. The seminars explore how a self-reflective stance can enable participants to work better in complex situations.

They draw on the internationally recognised Tavistock model of understanding organisations which brings together learning from systems theory, psychodynamics and group relations training.

Series A: Exploring Personal and Team Effectiveness at Work takes place in Leeds from October 2018 to March 2019 with the aim of running Series B: Exploring Authority and Leadership at Work in Spring 2019 as a follow up course. Series A is normally a pre-requisite to attending Series B as the concepts introduced in Series A are used extensively in Series B. On request, we can also run bespoke courses for specific teams or services.

Series A: Exploring Personal and Team Effectiveness at Work

Learning outcomes

This programme introduces participants to some of the classic papers in the area of consultancy and organisational development and invites them to think about the issues raised in relation to their own experience. It provides an opportunity to develop an understanding of the psychodynamics of work and organisations, and of the ways in which individuals and groups function within them. Time is given to discussing work related issues, including aspects of management, organisational development and/or consultancy, as determined by the programme participants.

Certificates for CPD will be issued.

Who should attend

These seminars are accessible to a broad range of professionals, managers and consultants working across the public, the independent and voluntary sectors. The focus of the seminars is on dynamics that can be observed in all types of organisations and teams.

Applicants are expected to have an interest in psychoanalytic ideas and their application to the understanding of organisational dynamics, with a desire to explore interpersonal process that impact team and organisational performances. The seminars bring together theory and practice that support people to understand the unconscious process operating in work settings. Series A is particularly suitable as an introduction for people who wish to use these ideas to explore the challenges they experience at work.

Programme facilitator

Tabitha Arulampalam is a management consultant supporting organisations and teams to achieve their potential in challenging environments. She is a qualified organisational and occupational psychologist with training and experience in psychodynamic group work and the application of systems theory to groups and organisations. Prior to becoming a management consultant she held various senior posts in the NHS, Local Government and the third sector. This experience has given her insight into different work environments. She uses a reflective approach with individuals and groups to explore relational aspects to behaviour and how ones inner life and outer behaviour influences effectiveness at work.
