Course outline

NSCAP and the Donald Meltzer Development fund are pleased to host the seventh year of the Study Group, open to qualified Child & Adolescent and Adult Psychoanalytic Psychotherapists wishing to deepen their understanding of Kleinian and post-Kleinian psychoanalytic theories and their application to clinical practice.

This year we will be reading Meltzer's 'The apprehension of beauty' and 'The Claustrum'.

The study groups will be delivered by zoom and in person, depending on numbers of participants, ability to travel to Leeds and the situation with the pandemic.

Learning outcomes

The overall aim of the study group is to enrich our understanding of Meltzer's contribution to post-kleinian psychoanalysis. Links between theory and practice will be made through discussions of participants' experiences from clinical practice, when appropriate.

By the end of the study group participants will be able to:

1. Deepen their theoretical and clinical understanding of Meltzer's work as described in his books read during the year.

Certificates for CPD will be issued
